legal if Done in Concert.

Washington, May 22.—Stephen S. Gregory, Chicago attorney, did not "mince matters" when he appeared before the House Judiciary committee today to oppose the proposed federal bill to give the federal government power to issue injunctions against strikes.

"The witness diplomatically recalled facts which leave those who are inclined to believe in the right of the federal government to issue injunctions against strikes to feel that the federal government is not the only one who has the right to issue such injunctions."
